DAUGHTER CAUSE OF ALTERCATION

Street Commissioner Will Havens,
James Naden and Revolver

FATHER WHIPPED HIS CHILD

Is the Allegation Over Which the Trouble is Said to Have Started.

When Will Havens, city street commissioner, rode up in front of the American office shortly after noon today, James Naden, the proprietor of the paper, came out with a revolver in his hand, and Havens went into the next business room, according to the story told by Naden. He said Havens had sent him word that he intended to mash him and when he saw him riding up in front of the office he supposed that he intended to do so and he expected to be ready for him.

It seems that the trouble was over Naden's oldest daughter, Jessie, who is a niece of Will Havens and who, it is alleged, Naden whipped recently. Naden says Havens did not like the manner in which his niece had been treated by her father and had persuaded her to come and live with him.

Naden objected to his daughter being taken from home and said that he had a right to rule her as he saw fit. He has been making an effort to get her to return home recently, and says that Havens refused to let her come. Mrs. Naden went to the Havens home at noon today to get her step-daughter, Jessie, who, Naden says, had promised to come back.

She refused to come, however, and Naden declares Havens sent word back by Mrs. Naden to him that he was going to mash him just as soon as he saw him. Naden says his natural conclusion when he saw Havens riding up in front of the office that he had come to carry out his threat.

Bystanders who saw the slight altercation said when Naden appeared in the door with the gun and told Havens not to come in, Havens walked in and that Naden ran over to the court house. Naden denies this story and says that he went over to the court house to get Sheriff King and see if he could put an end to the trouble.

Mr. Havens said he went to Mr. Naden's office to tell him that his daughter could go back home providing he would not mistreat her. The daughter returned to her home this afternoon.

Here's Where the Fun Comes In

In a spirit of fun, Jerry Sullivan wrote a post card last week to a Connersville friend and invited him to attend a roller skating party here. Much to his surprise, on the night appointed, along with his friend from Connersville, came eight couples, some of them carrying their own scenery—a pair of skates under their arm. Jerry sought the indoors for the evening.

BABY DOING WELL.

Dr. Will C. Smith, who attended Bertha Le, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herschel Hawk, says the child is doing well. He says the baby's escape from death in its fall from the second story window was remarkable.

The deadly gauge of Nero's drunkenness was a finely wrought intaglio ring. When he could not see the figures on it he knew he was drunk.

HAD FIGHT WITH COLORED BELL BOY

Rushville Young Man Said to Have Had an Encounter in Imperial Hotel.

NEGRO USES AN ICE PICK

The Indianapolis Star today has the following story concerning a Rushville boy:

When attacked by two larger and older men, Walter Horn, 18, colored, produced an ice pick and fought his way to victory in a scuffle at the Imperial hotel shortly before 6 o'clock last night. Noble C. Mann, one of the participants, received slight injuries on the left arm, and Ralph Stiffler, the other combatant, escaped with bruises.

Horn is bellboy at the hotel, and Mann, who rooms there, is said to have been angered because the colored youth reported him to the management recently. Mann and his friend Stiffler of Rushville, Ind., were on their way down stairs when they met the bellboy.

Central Police Station was informed of the fight and Bicyclemen Irick, Todd and Trimpe arrested the two men and the colored boy, charged with assault and battery.

CAME SUDDENLY IN EARLY MORN

Death Angel Carried Away Spirit of Mrs. Robert Abernathy After Twenty Minutes Illness.

HAS BEEN IN GOOD HEALTH

Awoke About Three O'clock Complaining That She Could Not Get Her Breath.

Following an active healthy life, Mrs. Robert Abernathy died suddenly at her home in Occident north of this city this morning about three-thirty o'clock. The physician in attendance pronounced her death due to pulmonary embolism. The blood in the large artery was suddenly stopped in some manner and the flow of blood between the heart and lungs was shut off and death resulted immediately.

Mrs. Abernathy went to bed last evening feeling as well as usual. She awakened her husband this morning shortly after three o'clock and said that she was sick and had trouble in getting her breath. He worked with her for a short time and then sent for the doctor. The physician was unable to relieve her suffering and she expired about three-thirty o'clock or twenty minutes after she awoke.

The deceased has been in comparatively good health all of her life and has seldom been troubled with sickness. She had never shown any symptoms of the disease of which she died and has been unusually well for the past few months. The news of her death came as a heavy blow to her son John Abernathy of East Second street. Mr. Abernathy is a partner in the grocery firm of Newhouse and Abernathy, proprietors of the Court House grocery.

Mrs. Abernathy was sixty-five years of age and is survived by a widower and six children, three boys and three girls. The funeral services will be held in the Blue River Baptist church Saturday afternoon at one o'clock. Interment will take place in East Hill cemetery.

ALL READY FOR BIG CHAUTAUQUA

Automobile Parade Tomorrow Afternoon Will Mark the Opening of the Week's Program.

THE PARK IS NOW A TENT CITY

Seating in Assembly Better Than Ever—Good Entertainment for Friday Evening.

Friday is the opening day of the sixth annual Rush county Chautauqua. The tents are ready; the seats are placed; the lighting is completed; and the talent will be here tomorrow. All that is necessary now is for the managers to say the word; the public to give its support, which is now assured, and the Chautauqua will be the greatest success of the six.

The first official number of the program is the automobile parade which starts from the court house tomorrow afternoon at three o'clock. The management expects every automobile owner in the county to be in the parade, and help make the event one of the biggest of the kind ever in the city. Every man who has an automobile, large or small, is urged to be there promptly at three o'clock.

The seating in the large tent at the Chautauqua grounds is much better than ever before. Comfortable benches have been placed on the ground in addition to the large number of raised seats. The tent this year will accommodate many more people than ever before, and no matter how large the crowd, comfortable seating is assured.

The park is now a tent city. Besides the large assembly tent there are several smaller tents. One of these that is a new feature is the Daily Republican executive tent. In this tent will be the only telephone which will be for the use of visitors free of charge. There will also be a writing table in the tent and stationery for the use of visitors.

The first regular program will be given tomorrow evening. The first thing will be the announcement winners in the newspaper contests. The musical prelude will be by the Washington quartet which comes highly recommended. Spillman Riggs, a well known humorist, will give his celebrated entertainment and lecture entitled "Musical Fits and Misfits." The management is expecting a large crowd tomorrow evening.

FORCES WIFE TO KILL RIVAL

Woman Says Husband Planned Murder.

SLAYER STILL A YOUNG GIRL

Confessing That She Killed Joe Rodi to Satisfy Her Husband's Jealous Hate, Mrs. Ben Marcri Revises the Story She First Told in Explanation of Tragedy in Illinois Mining Town—She Says Her Husband Carefully Taught Her to Shoot and Coached Her in Act Under Threat of Death.

Mt. Vernon, Ill., Aug. 5.—That she killed Joe Rodi to satisfy the jealousy of her husband is the confession of Mrs. Ben Marcri. She says her husband, after teaching her how to use a revolver, forced her to lie in wait for his supposed rival and slay him. He threatened her with death if she failed in the murder plot.

The confession was made after urging by the father and brother of the woman. When first arrested Mrs. Marcri declared she had shot Rodi in self-defense when he attempted to attack her. The father of the woman did not believe this and finally persuaded her to tell the following story: “My husband was jealous of Rodi because we happened to know him back in Italy, and he made my life miserable and threatened to kill me if I didn't kill Joe. I begged and pleaded with him, but he would not listen, and more than once he said he would cut my head off if I refused.

“One day he bought a pistol and a lot of cartridges and told me I must practice shooting, as I had to kill Joe. For several days we went to the woods together, and I soon learned to shoot. At last he was satisfied that I could shoot well enough to hit a man, and he planned that I must hide near the house and when Joe, who boarded with us, came home, shoot him and then tell that he had tried to assault me.

“While I lay in wait for Joe my heart almost failed me, but I knew if I failed to shoot him my husband would kill me. I shot poor Joe down and then called the officers and told the story my husband taught me. My husband was not about the house when I killed Joe, and he never has called on me in jail.”

Mrs. Marcri, although only seventeen years old, is a well developed and beautiful young woman. Her parents were once wealthy and lost all they had in Italy some years ago and then moved to America. She had the advantage of good teachers until she was twelve years of age, and still has fragments of the refined manners she was taught when a young girl.

She declares that there was no cause for her husband's jealousy. She lived with her husband at Bush, a small mining village, and he was employed in the mines there, but since the shooting he has disappeared and no trace of him has been found.

SHIPPY GIVES UP

Chicago Police Chief Sends in His Resignation.

Chicago, Aug. 5.—Mayor Fred A. Busse has made the announcement that George Shippy, chief of police, has sent in his resignation to the mayor. Chief Shippy has been in very poor health for several months and at present is on an indefinite furlough. Bernard J. Mullaney, secretary to the mayor, will probably succeed Shippy as chief. Shippy has been a member of the police force almost continuously since 1887.

The threatened streetcar strike had a great deal to do with bringing the situation to a head. Mullaney is thirty-nine years old. He was a political reporter on various Chicago papers for many years, later running the campaign which put Busse into office.

THAW'S INNING

Thaw and his attorney, Charles Morschauer, to offset the testimony of the state's alienists who have sworn without exception under cross-examination of District Attorney Jerome that Thaw is still insane and would be a menace to the community if released from the asylum at Matteawan.

Grave Charges Against Priest.

New Orleans, Aug. 5.—After remaining several hours in a cell of the parish prison here, Rev. John J. Holtgreve, pastor of the Catholic church at Plaquemine, La., was taken back by officers to that town. There the grand jury of Iberville parish returned twenty-eight indictments against the priest, charging him with improper relations with small boys, and four indictments alleging criminal libel.

THE GUILLOTINE AGAIN AT WORK

Paris Has First Execution in Fifteen Years.

Paris, Aug. 5.—When the announcement was made that a public beheading would occur at 4:30 o'clock this morning in the boulevard fronting the Sante prison, a sensation was created in Paris, which had not seen an execution in fifteen years. Immediately immense crowds gathered at the scene, but were kept back from the guillotine by heavy details of police and municipal guards. Parisian sentiment has long been opposed to public executions, for in the past they were accompanied by scandalous scenes of revelry. Despite this sentiment parliament refused to abolish the death penalty in France, and in view of the revolting crime of the man executed this morning, President Fallieres refused to commute his sentence to life imprisonment. The victim was named Duchemin, aged twenty-three, a butcher. In 1908 he stabbed his mother, and this not resulting in her death quick enough, he finished her by strangulation. The motive for the crime was robbery.

CONGRESSMAN FIGHTS

Representative Heflin Comes to Blows With an Automobileist.

Washington, Aug. 4.—An automobilist and Representative J. Thomas Heflin of Alabama became involved in a personal encounter on the streets of Washington. As no arrests were made, the identity of Mr. Heflin's antagonist could not be clearly established.

Mr. Heflin and Representative Ollie James of Kentucky were crossing F street together when an automobile whizzed by them. Mr. James says the driver was handling the machine carelessly and was exceeding the speed limit, very nearly running them down. When the car came to a stop some distance up the street the two congressmen followed and took the car's number. Observing this action the automobilist followed and hailed the congressmen, it is said, inquiring why they had taken his number and asking their names. The congressmen replied that they intended to report him for reckless driving and told him who they were. Denying their allegations, the driver is said to have made some remark that was exceedingly distasteful to Mr. Heflin. Mr. Heflin's rejoinder, it was said, was sharp and to the point.

The two southern representatives then moved away, but the automobilist, it is alleged, followed them, demanding Mr. Heflin to withdraw his statement. The two men came together in front of a local hotel, but few blows were struck. Mr. James and Mr. Heflin's colleague, Mr. Clayton, who had come up, separated the combatants before any damage had been done.

Election Declared Void.

Lexington, Ky., Aug. 5.—Judge Watts Parker, in the circuit court, has declared the election for city officers held in 1907 null and void on the ground of fraud and corrupt methods. The effect of the decision is to oust Mayor Skain and three other officials from office. The officials, who are all Democrats, entered a motion for an appeal.

Silence!

The instinct of modesty natural to every woman is often a great hindrance to the cure of womanly diseases. Women shrink from the personal questions of the local physician which seem indelicate. The thought of examination is abhorrent to them, and so they endure in silence a condition of disease which surely progresses from bad to worse.

It has been Dr. Pierce's privilege to cure a great many women who have found a refuge for modesty in his offer of FREE consultation by letter. All correspondence is held as sacredly confidential. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription restores and regulates the womanly functions, abolishes pain and builds up and puts the finishing touch of health on every weak woman who gives it a fair trial.

Henderson and Vicinity.

Farmers are very busy threshing.

Gray Hairs Banished.

The old idea of using sage for darkening the hair is again coming in vogue. Our grandmothers used to have dark glossy hair at the age of seventy-five, while our mothers have white hair before they are fifty. Our grandmothers used to make a "sage tea" and apply it to their hair. The tea made their hair soft and glossy and gradually restored the natural color. One objection to using such a preparation was the trouble of making it especially as it had to be made every two or three days on account of it souring quickly. This objection has been overcome, and by asking almost any first-class druggist for Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur the public can get a superior preparation of sage, with the admixture of sulphur, another valuable remedy for hair and scalp troubles. Daily use of this preparation will not only quickly restore the color of the hair but will also stop the hair from falling out and make it grow. It is sold by all druggists for 50c. and $1.00 a bottle, or is sent direct by the Wyeth Chemical Company, 74 Courtlandt St., New York City, upon receipt of price.

For sale and recommended by Hargrove & Mullin.

What Our Neighbors Are Talking About

THEY MOVE QUIETLY.

(Shelbyville News.)

Two factory owners seeking a new location will spend today in Shelbyville with members of the Industrial club. The club requests that the names and interests represented remain a secret. Other towns are seeking factories and the club believes when it gets hold of a prize its merits should be fully tested before others are given an opportunity.

WHY IS A "BOOTLEGGERS."

(New Castle Courier.)

In the dry counties where bootleggers have been arrested there has been much talk as to what "bootlegging" really means. In the early days, when the secret selling of liquor was first thought of in Kentucky, the men wore high top boots. In the legs of these half pint bottles could easily be concealed, and no one would suspect that the man had any liquor on his person. Should he meet a friend that wanted a half-pint, he would dive into one boot leg and produce the goods. Hence he was a "bootlegger."

How to Cure Skin Diseases.

The germs and their poisons which cause the disease must be drawn to the surface of the skin and destroyed.

Zemo, a scientific preparation for external use will do this and will positively cure Eczema, Pimples, Dandruff and every form of skin or scalp disease. See photos of many remarkable cures and show case or window display at F. E. Wolcotts drug store. Ask for sample.

Here's a Hot One For Anti-Booster

The Texas City (Tex.) Times, Edward G. Macartney, publisher, in a recent editorial on the wisdom and advantage of community co-operation boosting, gave this sarcastic fling at the anti-boost spirit, which, like a strain of pessimism, seems to run in some people's blood. The editorial says:

The Unincorporated Society for Mutual Injury, which we regret to say exists in every town and community, whose sole object is: To harm and impede each other as much as possible, should be garrotted by every broad minded community; the preamble is as follows: Preamble—Every human being, rich or poor, young or old, weak or strong, educated or illiterate, has his own troubles and burdens, some of which are known to his fellows, some a secret with himself. He is no more than emerged from the dream world of childhood than he finds it necessary to make a living in a world he has never lived in before, then to maintain wife and children, perhaps parents. It is all very hard. Therefore we, citizens of this town, agree on the following, which are incorporated in the following by laws.

BY-LAWS.

1. We will make fun of the beginning of every effort.
2. We will exaggerate every fault of fellow-members.
3. If strangers come to town we will "give away" fellow members.
4. We will slander and back-bite each other as much as possible.
5. We will do all we can to prevent a fellow member succeeding.
6. We will in every way hinder each other and strive to live up to the title of our society. "The Society for Mutual Injury."

This would be a very ridiculous association if it were formed, and no such society exists or will exist, and if created would be dissolved by public opinion, yet in an unorganized form and without by-laws, officers, or dues it exists in every town, hamlet or burg where A speaks ill of B covertly, and B divulges C's family troubles, and C hurts D's business, and D grudges E's success, and rejoices at his downfall, the net result is the same as such a society, if organized, would accomplish.

When Jonesville citizens do all they can to pull down Smithville, and the pleasant process is reciprocated by Smithville, they both succeed in hurting each other, and the consequence is the direct opposite of a society for co-operation.

Old Citizen's Idea Of Boosting Town

Editor Daily Republican:

Would not the following be a good way to advertise our city:

- Place at each of our railroad stations a large bulletin board and put on it in large letters that could be read at a glance by passers by:
- Rushville.
- Population, 6,000.
- Outlet by 7 railroads and 2 traction lines.
- Prettiest city in the State.
- Fine churches.
- Good schools.
- Water works.
- Natural gas for fuel.
- Lighted by electricity.
- A good place to live.
- Come with us and be happy.

These or something better.

From an old citizen who wants to see Rushville boom.

POPULAR IN THOSE DAYS

(Greenfield Reporter.)

In removing the old shingles on the roof of Nelson Bradley's residence to replace it with the new ones that has just been completed it was discovered that splendid timber had been used in the construction. The house is made of the finest poplar and the old shingles were made by hand from poplar trees. The roof had been on the house nearly fifty years.

CLEAN UP IS THE ORDER SENT OUT

Inspector Has Been on Tour of Northern Part of State and May Be Here.

DAIRIES AND BUTCHER SHOPS

Dairymen, milk dealers, fish markets, butcher shops, ice cream vendors and bottling establishments had better begin to tidy up and look to the pureness of the goods handled by them, as a food inspector is on the rounds, and he is not as lenient as others who have been before him. He is especially vigilant and "peeks" into everything to ascertain if it comes up to the pure food requirements, looks after the sanitary arrangements, etc.

State Inspector Cohn has just completed a tour of the northern part of the State and is liable to drop in here any moment if he is not already in the city "nosing" around, and he will insist here, as he did in Muncie, that your place must be clean and sanitary, and that no adulterants be used in the preparation of food stuffs, bottled goods, etc. At Muncie two bottling establishments were visited and the owners heavily fined for using salicylic acid.

What Our Neighbors Are Talking About

ARE "REGULAR" THIEVES

(Greensburg News.)

Sunday is no exception when it comes to a time for thieves to labor. Last evening some unknown parties broke into a way car, north bound, over the Michigan division of the Big Four while it was on siding and stole about a half a case of oranges.

The consignment was one from the wholesale houses of this city to a Milroy merchant. The case was found this morning at the side of the car about half emptied.

Agent Crawford informs us that for the past two months, once a week regularly, this car is broken into and robbed. The police have been usually diligent in their search of the yards for suspicious characters, they have found nothing, and are as mystified as the employees of the company. While the stolen articles have never at any time amounted to much as to actual value, the parties concerned are just as zealous to run down and punish the perpetrators. Special attention will be given that section of the yards in the future.

SUIT FOR FEW PENNIES.

(Greensburg News.)

The directors of the Clarksburg State Bank have filed suit against the Decatur County Independent Telephone Company, claiming that the company was indiscriminate in the enforcement of an order where-by non-subscribers of the telephone talked over the company's lines. They ask for damages in the sum of $100.

The suit grows out of an order recently issued by William F. Qualls, general manager of the telephone company, prohibiting non-subscribers the use of the telephone lines unless they paid a toll rate of five cents for city connections and ten cents for country connections. A patron of the bank, and a non-subscriber of the telephone company, used the phone at the bank and a ten cent toll was charged and was placed against the bank's account. When the bill was presented on the grounds that the company was discriminate as to the enforcement of the order, in other words, permit other non-subscribers the use of phones. They settled the bill, however, and have filed their complaint for the $100 damage on the aforementioned grounds.

The firms in the contest are Louis Neutenhelzer, Bliss & Cowing, Abercrombie Bros., A. L. Aldridge, Casady & Cox, Harriet Plough, John B. Winship, E. A. Lee, John P. Frazee, Morris & Bassler, Ed Crosby, Thomas Lytle, Havens Bros., R. H. Jones, and Geo. C. Wyatt & Co.

It is expected that organizations will enter the contest to try for the prize.

Mulno & Guffin have a similar contest, which is separate from this.

AGED WOMAN IS INJURED IN FALL

Mrs. Nancy Patterson, 79 Years Old, Suffers a Broken Leg in Painful Accident.

BONE FRACTURED NEAR HIP

Nancy Patterson, seventy-nine years old, mother of Mrs. Lot Berkeley, suffered a severe and painful injury at the poor farm yesterday, when she slipped and fell from a step. The fall was only a short distance, but it was sufficient to break the bone in one leg near the hip. Dr. E. I. Wooden attended the woman, and it is thought because of her advanced age the injury will go hard with her.

by your own clients. Horrible paradox, eh?"

When Deppingham rejoined them he was pale and very nervous. His wife, who had been weeping, came up with him, while Browne went off toward the stables with the ex-banker.

"What do you think has happened?" demanded his lordship, addressing the two men, who stood by irresolutely. "Somebody's trying to poison us! Lady Deppingham's dog is dead—poisoned, gentlemen!" He was wiping the moisture from his brow.

"I'm sorry, Lady Deppingham," said Chase earnestly. "He was a nice dog. But I hardly think he could have eaten what was intended for any of us. If he was poisoned, the poison was meant for him and for no one else. He bit one of the stable boys yesterday. It!"

"That may all be very true, Chase," protested his lordship, "but don't you see it goes to show that some one has a stock of poison on hand, and we may be the next to get it. He died half an hour after eating—after eating a biscuit that was intended for me! It's—it's damned uncomfortable, to say the least."

"I'm sure you need the brandy after all this. Come along. Will you join us, Lady Deppingham?" said Chase.

"No. I'm going to bed!" She started away, then stopped and looked at her husband, her eyes wide with sudden comprehension. "Oh, Deppy, I should have died! I should have died!"

"My dear!"

"I couldn't have lived if"—

"But, my dear, I didn't eat it—and here we are. God bless you!" He turned abruptly and walked off beside her, ignoring the two distressed Americans. As they passed through the French window Deppingham put his arm about his wife's waist. Chase turned to Britt.

"I don't know what you're thinking, Britt, but it isn't so, whatever it is."

"Good Lord, man, I wasn't thinking that!"

There was not the slightest doubt in the minds of those conversant with the situation that the poison had been intended for either Lord or Lady Deppingham. The drug had been subtly, skillfully placed in one of the sandwiches which came up to their rooms at 11 o'clock, the hour at which they invariably drank off a cup of bouillon.

Drusilla Browne was jesting, no doubt, but it is doubtful if any one grasped the delicacy of her humor when she observed, in mock concern, addressing the assembled mourners, that she believed the heirs were trying to get rid of their incumbences after the good old Borgia fashion and that she would never again have the courage to eat a mouthful of food so long as she stood between her husband and a hymeneal fortune.

"You know, my dear," she concluded, turning to her husband, "that I might have had Lord Deppingham's biscuit. His wife asked me to take it. Goodness, you're a dreadful Borgia person, Agnes," she went on, smiling brightly at her ladyship. Deppingham was fumbling nervously at his monocle. "I should think you would be nervous, Lord Deppingham."

The most rigid questioning elicited no information from the servants. Baillo's sudden, involuntary look of suspicion, directed toward Lady Agnes and Robert Browne, did not escape the keen eye of Hollingsworth Chase.

"Impossible!" he said, half aloud. He looked up and saw that the princess was staring at him questioning. He shook his head without thinking.

Despair settled upon the white people. They were confronted by a new and serious peril—poison. At no time could they feel safe.

One of the stable boys volunteered to carry a note from Chase to Rasula, asking the opportunity to lay a question of grave importance before him. Chase suggested to Rasula that he should meet him that evening at the west gate, under a flag of truce. The tone of the letter was more or less peremptory.

Rasula came, sullen but curious. At first he would not believe, but Chase was firm in his denunciation of Jacob von Blitz. Then he was pleased to accuse Chase of duplicity and double dealing, going so far as to charge the deposed American with plotting against Von Blitz to further his own ends in more ways than one. At last, however, he agreed to follow the advice of the American—grudgingly, to be sure, but none the less determined.

"You will find everything as I have stated it, Rasula," said Chase. "I'm sorry you are against me, for I would be your friend. I've told you how to reach the secret cave. The chests are there. The passage is closed. You can trap him in the attempt to rob the bank. I could have taken him red handed and given him over to Lord Deppingham, but you would never have known the truth. Now I ask you to judge for yourselves. Give him a fair trial, Rasula—as you would any man accused of crime—and be just. If you need a witness—an eyewitness—call on me. I will come, and I will appear against him. I've been honest with you. I am willing to trust you to be honest with me."

CHAPTER XXIV. DEPPINGHAM FALLS ILL.

THAT evening Lord Deppingham took to his bed with violent chills. He shivered and burned by turns and spent a most distressing night. Bobby Browne came in twice to see him before retiring. For some reason unknown to any one but himself, Deppingham refused to be treated by the young man, notwithstanding the fact that Browne laid claim to a physician's certificate and professed to be especially successful in breaking up "the ague." Lady Agnes entreated her liege lord to submit to the doses, but Deppingham was resolute in his intractability.

"A Dover's powder, Deppy, or a few grains of quinine. Please be sensible. You're just like a child."

"What's in a Dover's powder?" demanded the patient, who had never been ill in his life.

"Ipecac and opium, sugar of milk or sulphate of potash. It's an anodyne diaphoretic," said Browne.

"Opium, eh?" came sharply from the couch. "Good Lord, an overdose of it would!"

"He checked the words abruptly and gave vent to a nervous fit of laughter.

"Don't be a fool, George," commanded his wife. "No one is trying to poison you."

"Who's saying that he's going to poison me?" demanded Deppingham shortly. "I'm objecting because I don't like the idea of taking medicine from a man just out of college."

"I've just given my wife a powder, old man. She's got a nervous headache," urged Browne tolerantly.

"Your wife!" exclaimed Deppingham, sitting up. "The devil!" He looked hard at Browne for a moment. "Oh, I say, now, old chap, don't you think it's rather too much of a coincidence?"

Browne arose quickly, a flash of resentment in his eyes. "See here, Deppingham!"

"I apologize, Browne," said Deppingham hastily. "I'm not afraid of your medicine. I'm only thinking of my wife. If I should happen to die, don't you know, there would be people who might say that you could have cured me. See what I mean?"

"You dear old goose!" cried his wife. "I fancy Selim or Baillo or even Bowles knows what a fellow does himself with when he's bowled over by one of these beastly island ailments. Oblige me, Agnes, and send for Bowles."

He immediately recommended an old fashioned Dover's powder and ventured the opinion that a "good sweat" would soon put his lordship on his feet, "better than ever." Deppingham kept Bowles beside him while Browne generously prepared and administered the medicine.

Later in the night the princess came to see how the patient was getting on. He was in a dripping perspiration.

Genevra drew a chair up beside his couch and sat down. Lady Agnes was yawning sleepily over a book.

"Do you know, I believe I'd feel better if I could have another chill," he said. "I'm so beastly hot now that I can't stand it. Aggy, why don't you turn out on the balcony for a bit of fresh air? I'm a brute to have kept you moping in here all evening."

Lady Agnes sighed prettily and stepped out into the murky night.

"I say, Genevra, what's the news?" demanded his lordship. "Where is Chase?"

Now, the princess, it is most distressing to state, had willfully avoided Mr. Chase since early that morning.

"I'm sure I don't know. I had dinner with Mrs. Browne in her room. I fancy he's off attending to the guard. I haven't seen him."

"Nice chap," remarked Deppingham. "Isn't that he now speaking to Agnes out there?"

Genevra looked up quickly. A man's voice came in to them from the balcony, following Lady Deppingham's soft laugh.

"No," she said, settling back calmly. "It's Mr. Browne."

"Oh," said Deppingham, a slight shadow coming into his eyes. "Nice chap, too," he added a moment later.

"I don't like him," said she, lowering her voice.

"I've no doubt Agnes is as much to blame as he," said his lordship at last. "She's made a fool of more than one man, my dear. She rather likes it."

"He's behaving like a brute. They've been married less than a year."

"It really doesn't amount to any-

"Why don't you marry him?"

thing, Genevra," he argued. "It will blow over in a fortnight. Aggy's always doing this sort of thing, you know."

"I know, Deppy," she said sharply. "But this man is different. He's not a gentleman. Mr. Skaggs wasn't a gentleman. Blood tells. He will boast of this flirtation until the end of his days."

"Aggy's had dozens of men in love with her—really in love," he protested feebly. "She's not!"

"They've come and gone, and she's still the same old Agnes, and you're the same old Deppy. I'm not thinking of you or Aggy. It's Drusilla Browne."

"I see. Thanks for the confidence you have in Aggy. I dare say I know

A STEP FORWARD

Connecticut Repeals Ancient Blue Laws of 1722.

Hartford, Conn., August 5.—The Connecticut legislature has finally passed the bill repealing the so-called "blue laws" relating to Sunday observance, which forbid almost every form of recreation and secular activity. The laws, which have been seldom enforced, are relics of enactments by the law-giving body of 1722.

The new Sunday bill is short. It defines the Sunday, and prohibits all sports and secular activities, "except such as are demanded by necessity and mercy and such as are for the general welfare of the community."

souri.

Tipton, Ind., Aug. 5.—After a conference held in this city by the trustees of the six townships of Tipton county to consider the prospects of recovering the moneys deposited in the First National bank, they decided that the funds of the townships were safe. This conclusion was strengthened by the apparent confidence of the county officers, who have money of the county deposited there and who feel no alarm. No action will be taken against the bank. Several of the trustees are business men who also have individual accounts, and their opinion as to the stability of the bank will go far toward placating dissatisfied country depositors.

E. W. Shirk, president, is taking no part in the bank examination, but is going over the reports that will be submitted by Bank Examiner Weir. He will not say at what time the bank will be open, but admits that the new cashier will be a man who is familiar with the banking business, but not a resident of Tipton.

It was intimated by Mr. Shirk that the assistant cashier will probably be a Tipton man, and that a sufficient bond will be exacted to indemnify the bank against a future possible loss. The laxity in this respect permitted the recent manipulation of bank books and the forgeries, and the possibility of escaping with the funds.

Noah R. Marker, the alleged defaulter, in response to insinuations that he was not at Louisiana, Mo., on his "vacation," says he stayed at the boarding house of Mrs. Lindsay, 217 North Main street, Louisiana, Mo., and that he registered there under the name of A. F. Land. To prove that he really was at the Missouri town he exhibits a straw hat purchased there, bearing the name of the Louisiana store at which it was bought.

Following the announcement that Milo Howe, after forging the name of Joseph Pickard, his father-in-law, to numerous notes, had fled the county, came the announcement that his wife, Mrs. Nancy Belle Howe, had fled suit in the court here against him for divorce and alimony to the amount of $1,500. In her complaint the wife charges that her husband forged her father's name to notes and that he had left the county with Pearl Eads.

According to Joseph Pickard his name appears as security upon notes to the amount of $1,500. His signatures to all these notes are pronounced a forgery. Two of the banks in this city hold over $1,000 in these notes, while the Michigantown bank holds a note calling for $500. Howe was rated as a successful farmer and had good crops on his farm this year. He is about thirty-five years of age and has a wife and four children.

The local police had no idea that the trunks found in Chicago contained the bodies of the children, the theory being that the trunks contained the property of Samuel Turrisi, who is believed to have lured the Viviano children from their home, and other members of the blackmailing gang. The trunks were taken from the house of Joseph Pagano here, and it is known that Pagano and Turrisi were friends and that a man answering the latter's description left Pagano's house an hour before the children disappeared Monday. This theory was confirmed when the local police were informed that an inspection of the trunks' contents by the Chicago authorities revealed only clothing and similar articles. It is thought possible, however, that important evidence may be adduced from a proof of ownership of the clothing, as it might tend to reveal the personnel of the kidnapers.

Three Drowned at Moline. Moline, Ill., Aug. 5.—Harvey Gregg, twenty years old, drowned by falling off a launch while John Hogan, sixty-eight years old, fell off the ferry dock at Davenport into the Mississippi while trying to cool off. Ben. Dresenbach, fourteen years old, Davenport; drowned in the Mississippi opposite Moline while swimming.

The Deadly Ptomaines. Greenfield, Ind., Aug. 5.—Dr. Marcus M. Adams is dead at his home in this city after an illness of two weeks. Death was due to ptomaine poisoning from eating potted ham and leakage of the heart, which developed later. He was the oldest practicing physician in Hancock county and well known throughout the state.

Fisherman Drowns in Canal. Neponset, Ill., Aug. 5.—Will Swearingin, twenty-two years old, was drowned while fishing in the Hennepin canal near Sheffield.

Dispatches from Salzburg, Austria, state that the health of E. H. Harriman continues excellent.

HEART BROKEN BY MISDEEDS OF SON

Milo Howe's Mother Succumbs to Shock.

Frankfort, Ind., Aug. 5.—On hearing of her son's misdeeds Mrs. Martin Howe, mother of Milo Howe, who fled the county after having forged the name of his father-in-law to a number of notes, fainted. When told of her son's flight and crimes, Mrs. Howe collapsed and was removed to the hospital, where she died, being unable to rally from the shock.

Following the announcement that Milo Howe, after forging the name of Joseph Pickard, his father-in-law, to numerous notes, had fled the county, came the announcement that his wife, Mrs. Nancy Belle Howe, had fled suit in the court here against him for divorce and alimony to the amount of $1,500. ### FOUND NO MERCY Man Shot at the Waldorf Will Prosecute Mrs. Castle.

New York, Aug. 5.—The woman from California, Mrs. Neville Castle, who has a difference of opinion with Mrs. William D. Craig as to whether Mr. Craig, whom she shot but did not seriously injure at the Waldorf-Astoria, has pursued her or she him, found no mercy in the man she says loves her. Nor has anyone gone on her bail. Craig refused to dismiss his complaint against her, and when she laid her hand on his shoulder in court and pleaded gently, "Will, please drop it, won't you?" he turned brusquely and left the room. She was held in $3,000 bail for further examination.

Turkey Threatens Trouble.

Constantinople, Aug. 5.—Greece has replied to a Turkish note which, although couched in friendly terms, practically demands the recall of the Greek officers serving in Crete, to the effect that the question is in the hands of the four protecting powers of Crete with whose knowledge and consent the officers in question were sent to the island. Turkey is appealing to the four powers, and she intimates that her friendly request to Greece will be followed, unless satisfaction is obtained, by a more energetic demand.

To Vote This Afternoon.

Washington, Aug. 5.—Small interest was shown in the tariff debate in the senate yesterday, but a night session was necessary to allow progressive senators an opportunity to express their views on the tariff bill. Interest today centers on the vote on the conference report, which will be taken up this afternoon.

Acquitted of Heinous Charge.

STATE FAIR

Was a Homeless Wanderer
Over Indiana But Now One of Greatest in the Union.

PRIZES FOR NEXT FAIR $75,350

Horseback and Long Wagon Trips to Indiana Exposition Have Given Way to Pleasure Rides by Trolley—Eminent Judges Who Will Tie Ribbons on Prize Winners.

The Indiana State Fair will be held at Indianapolis the week of Sept. 6, and as the season of preparation for it advances, interest in it is widespread over the state, not only among live-stock and other exhibitors, but among the tens of thousands of people who attend from year to year. The Indiana Fair is one of the oldest in the United States, and in the last ten years has grown to be one of the largest. From its earliest years, when the fair wandered over the state, using borrowed county fair grounds for its displays, to the possession at present of a fair ground tract of 214 acres, with land and improvements worth about $700,000, is one way in which the growth of the Indiana exposition may be measured. The first State Fair, held in October, 1852, was three days in length and was attended by about 30,000 people. The fair now continues days and evenings for five days, and the attendance approaches 200,000.

At the first Indiana Fair the prizes consisted of silver cups, worth only a few hundred dollars. At the coming fair prizes amounting to $75,350 and a dozen or more expensive silver cups and gold medals will be awarded. People who attended the first fair made the trip to Indianapolis in wagons or on horseback, camping by the roadside at night and taking two or three days for the journey. Now the farm people of the state who live most distant from the fair can reach the grounds in a few hours. Most of them can hail a trolley car near home and make a pleasure ride of the trip. Two trolley lines from northern Indiana land passengers at the fair gates. The Lake Erie & Western railroad will run numerous special trains to and from the coming fair. All of the trolley lines out of Indianapolis will have special service during the week. The transportation question does not give the fair officials the concern it did a few years ago, for steam and inter-urban facilities for bringing the people to Indianapolis and getting them home promptly and in comfort, have been highly developed in recent years. It is doubtful if any state fair in the Union has the streetcar facilities to equal those from Indianapolis to the Indiana grounds. There are three double-track lines from the city to the fair gates, where cars arrive fifteen seconds apart, and handling 75,000 or more people a day is no longer a bothersome undertaking to the Indianapolis lines.

Another way in which the Indiana exposition has grown is in its patronage. The receipts of the first fair were $8,833.16 and the total income for the fair of last year was $110,000. During its career the Indiana Fair has distributed perhaps $600,000 in premiums, by far the larger portion going to the farmers and live stock owners of the state. The exposition has come up to its present magnitude very largely from its own energy, backed by the faith of the farming element of Indiana. For some years the fair has received $10,000 a year from the legislature, all of it going toward paying premiums. The first appropriation by the legislature for a permanent fair improvement was $100,000 for the coliseum, three summers ago. The State Board of Agriculture added $30,000 to this amount from its treasury that the coliseum might be made more complete. All of the real estate and other buildings which now comprise the fair property have come from the profits of the exposition, and these profits have come from the town and country people from over the state who have bought admission tickets.

As usual, the prizes offered at the next fair are richest in the speed department, where the amount reaches $37,600, an increase of several thousand dollars over any former year, and a corresponding increase in the number of trotters and pacers and in the quality of the events is expected. On beef and dairy cattle the total prizes reach $12,566; on show horses, $13,000; sheep, $2,931; swine, $2,078; poultry $1,980; fine arts, $1,417; agricultural products, $1,423; fruit, $848; flowers, $836; bees and honey, $248; dairy products, $214; table luxuries, $209.

The State Fair will not only mean the assembling on the grounds at Indianapolis of the best products of the agricultural and livestock farms of the state, with many thousand people to see the richness of these resources, but an unusually brilliant array of judges will be present to decide how the $75,350 in prize money will be distributed. In making up the list of judges, the State Board of Agriculture has sought the highest authorities available for the different departments, and has chosen men who are past-masters in passing on the merits of livestock and the products of field and orchard. Three new judges will tie the ribbons on the prize-winning horses, and some noted authorities will tie the cattle ribbons.

SUTTON CASE IS RESUMED TODAY

Mrs. Sutton Determined to Fight to Bitter End.

TO CLEAR HER SON'S MEMORY

Nothing Will Be Left Undone Before the Present Naval Board of Inquiry to Remove the Stigma of Suicide From the Name of Lieutenant James N. Sutton—Hearing of Sensational Case Resumed Today With an Entirely New Alignment of the Proceedings.

Annapolis, Md., Aug. 5.—Accompanying Henry E. Davis, their counsel, Mrs. James N. Sutton of Portland, Ore., and her daughter, Mrs. Parker of St. Paul, Minn., have arrived here from Washington, determined, they said, to fight to the bitter end to remove the stigma of suicide from the name of Lieutenant James N. Sutton of the marine corps, Mrs. Sutton's son. The naval board of inquiry resumed the investigation of young Sutton's death today.

Lieutenant Harold H. Utely and Surgeon Frank C. Cook, who returned Tuesday from the Mediterranean on the United States cruiser North Carolina, reported at the naval academy last night. They will be the principal witnesses for the navy at the continuation of the hearings. When the inquiry was abruptly adjourned a week ago because of their absence, the alignment of the entire proceedings was changed and Lieutenant Utely and the other officers of the marine corps, who have already testified, were made parties defendant, instead of merely interested parties, at the request of Major Henry Leonard, the judge advocate.

A PERSUADER FOR ALI

Persia Wants Deposed Ruler to Give Back Crown Jewels.

Teheran, Aug. 5.—The government has now offered, it is understood here, Mohammed Ali, the ex-shah, an annual pension of $75,000 on condition that he will deliver up the jewels enumerated in the Nationalist inventory, or inform the government how he disposed of the missing gems.

It is believed that Mohammed Ali will accept this new offer, and his departure from Persia, probably for Russia, is expected within a fortnight.

Citizens Are Arming Themselves.

Stockholm, Aug. 5.—The labor conflict in Sweden shows signs of becoming more acute. While the ranks of the strikers are considerably swelled, the general strike has not yet become entirely effective. Many organizations, although sympathizing with the strikers, hesitate to join them actively. A corps of workmen, several thousand strong, is being organized with the object of maintaining order, and the people generally, bankers, merchants, etc., are arming themselves for self-protection.

Bolivian Agent Recalled.

Santiago, Chili, Aug. 4.—The Bolivian charge d'affaires to Chili has been recalled. This action was taken at the request of the Chilean government, which claimed that the charge made inexact statements in telegrams to his government concerning the attitude of Chili in the dispute between Peru and Bolivia.

Turkey's Warlike Preparations.

Saloniki, Aug. 5.—It is reported here that the Turkish government has ordered out 40,000 Redifs in the territory of the Second army corps at Smyrna, and has contracted with three steamship companies for the transportation of troops and munitions of war.

Daily Earthquake in Portugal.

Lisbon, Aug. 5.—Earth shocks are being felt daily in the Ribateje region, where the populace is greatly frightened and camping in the fields.

The Alabama legislature has passed a resolution for election of senators by direct vote of the people.
